

Hawkwood Books Newsletter

February 2017

Ten years after the end of the Second World War, many families are still affected by the conflict. Kitty and Kay are twins from one such family, their parents hospitalised and their loving, Jewish home, for a while, a distant memory. They find themselves in an unfamiliar world, making new friends, fending off enemies and learning about both the gentler and crueller sides of life.

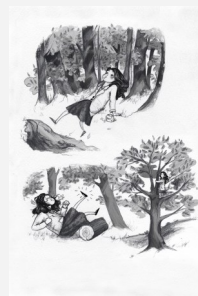

Growing up in Babylon is a thoughtful, provocative story, a tale of kinship, friendship and love. For readers aged 11 and over.

isbn: 978-1-908577-62-7

RRP: £6.99

March 2017

Although not part of the book, artist Ellie Roe has created a series of illustrations available online. Here are some of them:

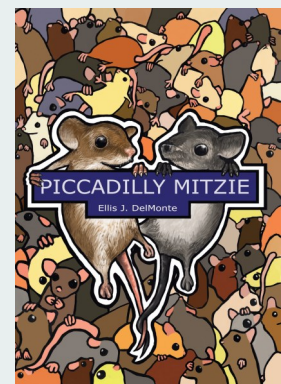

Ellie can be contacted through her website HERE

Two of our titles are now sold by the London Transport Museum in Covent Garden.

They are

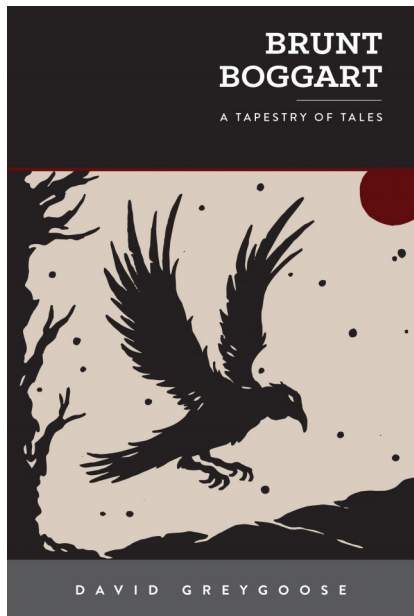

and

Covent Garden Piazza
London WC2E 7BB

Hawkwood Books Newsletter

February 2017

Click HERE to read some of the wonderful reviews of Brunt Boggart and HERE to contact Dave for talks and visits.

Brunt Boggart
by David Greygoose
Isbn: 978-1-908577-44-3
RRP: £8.99

3 BOOKS, 1 CABINET

We all need help at times but for some children it comes in the most unexpected way.

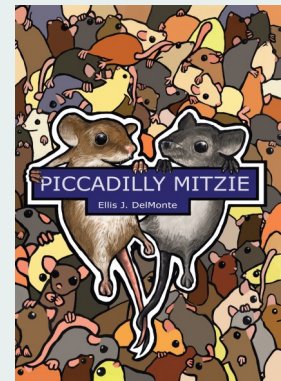

He was admiring what had to be the final layer, it was so beautiful, swimming with colours that seemed to shift and shimmer and run into each other like liquid light. You just knew there was nothing beneath it but the mysterious present.

Book 1: Philip
Book 2: Lisi
Book 3: Louey

Two of our titles are now sold by the London Transport Museum in Covent Garden.

They are

and

Covent Garden Piazza
London WC2E 7BB