PARTLY SANE, PROSE MERRY AND RHYME

This month, a collection of honest, often belligerent, non-woke scribbblings by David Hogarth, author of Rise and Shine, Little Man.

isbn 978-1-7393239-9-8

RRP: £9.99

January 31st 2025

Partly Sane does for Keats, Byron and Shelley what Heavyweight Boxing does for Classical Romanticism. Not a lot. It's a sparkling collection of ideas to make you fume, think, wonder and question where we are now, and where we are heading in this complex, often misguided world.

Latest research now suggests
Something fishy is afoot,
Which can't be good for anyone,
No whats or ifs or buts.
But who is doing all the work?
We haven't got a clue.
That's right, it isn't anyone,
Including me and you.

And to add something of my own, in tune with David...

January the first is a day full of hope,
To all things bad we simply say, 'Nope'.
But with our frailties we have not reckoned,
For normality returns on January the second.
